

Strategic excellence

If you're not keeping score, you're just practicing.

STRATEGIC INTELLIGENCE AND TOOLS COMBINED

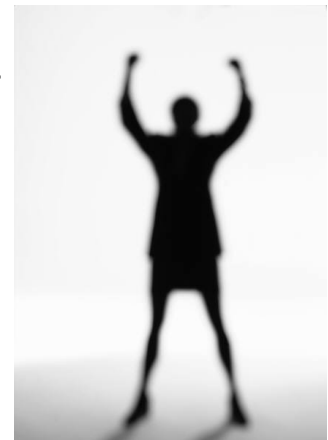

Modern and successful enterprises use the best of management practices such as balanced scorecards, project portfolio management, accountability frameworks, risk management and business analytical tools to help them maximize their performance.

The alliance between Thomas Landschhof and MS2C delivers a superior combination of consulting and technology services that foster better business performance. Thomas Landschhof offers strategic intelligence in the form of advisory services enabling organizations to refresh their strategy and enforce performance management within your organization.

Thomas Landschhof supports his practice by implementing MS2C, the on-demand enterprise performance solution, at www.managementscorecards.com, enabling communication, tracking and decision making at the strategic, operational and tactical level.

Combining German management discipline and Canadian technology leadership for the best of performance.
